

Skin Cancer Specialist Nurses

Nationwide roles available

Check4Cancer is a cancer screening company for bowel, breast, cervical, lung, prostate and skin cancer. Our head office is based in Cambridge. We run clinics nationwide and are proud to have recently been awarded the Health Investor Award for Diagnostic Provider of the Year 2018.

The company's team of cancer specialists has extensive clinical expertise, enabling Check4Cancer to become a trusted provider of evidence based, audited pathways to private individuals, leading UK insurance providers and the corporate sector. We ensure the highest standards are delivered to our clients at all times.

Due to the continued expansion in our services we are now recruiting skin cancer nurses to run our skin diagnosis clinics. Skin cancer specialist nurses work autonomously within the clinic setting, assessing clients using dermoscopy. Our nurses are also expected to spend time with clients to provide education relevant to their skin health.

This is a unique and exciting role and enables you to work within a truly nurse led service. You will be supported by a team of skin nurses, along with Consultants in skin cancer and plastic surgery and will report to the Clinical Services Director to ensure you are given the support that you require. A comprehensive training package is in place so that you are fully trained before undertaking clinics.

Salary – Competitive (Equivalent to a Band 7/8) depending upon experience.

We currently have roles for full-time and part-time contracts in nationwide locations.

Ideally, you will be a car driver or have good transport links in order to travel to clinics.

If you are interested in finding out more information please contact Louise Mills, Clinical Services Manager by email louise@check4cancer.com

www.check4cancer.com/jobs